

Towson University Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies

Decision-Making and Uncertainty: Talmudic Insights for Today

---

Dr. Deborah Barer
Sabbatical Talk
Thursday May 2nd
5-6pm in LA 4331

How do we know the right course of action when applying existing norms or rules would be problematic, or when such norms simply do not exist?

Explore how Talmudic models of improvisational judgement can help us think about the ways we make decisions and how to navigate uncertainty.

Open to the university community and the public. • Questions? Contact dbarer@towson.edu