EXAMINING ANTISEMITISM IN AMERICA

LA 1201, 4:00PM

This presentation examines how Jew-hatred has transformed over time, and the ways in which it is expressed today. Why are the Jews hated? This lecture traces the many transformations and mutations of Jew hatred from a hatred that was focused on our religious tradition, beliefs, and practices; to a hatred that was racialized resulting in the murder of 6 million Jews; to the current fomentation of hate toward the collective identity of the Jewish people expressed in the liberation movement for self-determination and the creation of the State of Israel.
