

Dr. Wing-Chun Wong Memorial Lecture 2024

“Sharing Transformative Experience”

Timothy Connolly, Ph.D

Professor

Department of Philosophy and Religion
East Stroudsburg University

Thursday,
October 17, 2024
6:00-7:30PM
Liberal Arts, 4310

Dr. Timothy Connolly is Professor of Philosophy at East Stroudsburg University. His research focuses on ethics in classical Chinese traditions as well as the methodology of cross-cultural philosophy. He is the author of Doing Philosophy Comparatively (2015, with a 2nd edition in 2023) and Foundations of Confucian Ethics: Virtues, Roles, and Selves (forthcoming, 2025). Currently he is working on a project that brings together contemporary discussions of transformative experience with perspectives from classical Chinese texts.

Sponsored by the Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies

This event is free and open to the public.

Reception will follow the lecture.

For questions and inquiries, email: suchoi@towson.edu